Advantages of the KnE Publishing Platform

Globalise your conference on the KnE Publishing Platform

The KnE Publishing Platform will provide a permanent electronic record of your conference, freely accessible with a single click for your fellow researchers all over the world.

Conferences published on the KnE Publishing Platform quickly become internationally known – attracting more speakers, presenters, sponsors and attendees for next year's event.

Raise the reputation of your journal

The academic publishing world has become hyper-competitive and your journal must stand out to attract high quality authors, editors and reviewers. The KnE Publishing Platform allows you to build a stronger link with your intended readership and provides an ideal hub to build up your research network.

Boost your citations!

People will only cite your work if they can find it! Today's researchers need their papers to be read, and cited.

Every proceedings paper on the KnE Publishing Platform is guaranteed to have its own unique digital object identifier (DOI) that makes it discoverable by fellow researchers anytime and anywhere in the world. The DOI makes the article accurately citable and is permanent so it can always be found in the future.

International indexing

Selected conference proceedings and journals on the KnE Publishing Platform are submitted for evaluation by international indexing and discovery services including Elsevier Scopus, Thomson Reuters Web of Science, Medline.

Knowledge E industry experts provide training and advice for journal editors and conference organisers on international publishing standards.

Publishing ethics

Knowledge E adheres to the principles and international industry standards as described in the Committee On Publication Ethics (COPE).
